

PyTest Naming Conventions

When using pytest, it is very important to follow naming conventions.

If we don't follow naming conventions, then pytest will not pick up tests from the file.

- File names should start or end with “test”, as in `test_example.py` or `example_test.py`
- Class name should start with “Test”, as in `TestExample`
- Test method names should start with “test_”, as in `test_example`

You can refer to the official documentation for more details:
